Clever Little Boxer Will Be Welcomed Back After Three Years' Absence Abroad.

Sammy Kelly, the clever little fighter who for years boxed successfully against the best feather-weights in the world, is due home from England Thanksgiving Day. He has been away three years and in that time has followed various occupations, from betting com-missioner at the race tracks in England and France to managing Jimmy Michael, the champion cyclist.

Kelly went to England three years ago to fight Will Curley. In that con-test he received a rough deal at the hands of the English sporting men and referee. There was little or no fair play showed him and he lost the decision after having broken his collar-bone. He sustained this injury by being foully thrown by Curley.

Hard luck marked Kelly's efforts at everything after that fight. His wife, everything after that fight. His wife, who went across the ocean to him, died suddenly after her arrival there and was buried within a stone's toss of the grave of Fred Archer, the noted jockey. Kelly then followed the races with only moderate success and became betting commissioner for a prominent owner. After the last English racing season kelly went to France and soon after became the manager of Jimmy Michael. Differences of opinion as to the best training methods separated the pair recently. Kelly has many friends in this city and he will probably be given a rousing welcome when he returns home.

Fight Will Go to 'Frisco.

tle between "Young Corbett," the present holder of that title, and Terry McGovern, which has been prevented on two different occasions by the au-thorities, will surely be decided in San Francisco the latter part of next mouth. Both Corbett and McGovern are anxious to have the contest come off, and as a consequence they will be prepared on Saturday to accept the largest purse that is offered by the clubs of San $10,000 Offered Will De Accepted.

The $10,000 offer made by the officials of the San Francisco A. C. will prob ably be accepted by Corbett and Mc-Govern. The San Francisco Club has already been granted the license by the Board of Supervisors to hold a professional boxing show during the month of December, and on that account the club will get the preference over the others. Both fighters will leave for the battle-ground within two weeks to get into condition for the encounter. Corbett will start with his sparring partner, Willie Fitzgerald, after his fight with Billy Maynard in Philadelphia Nov. 28.

Elegier and Sweeney. Owen Ziegier, the ex-Philadelphia welter-weight fighter, who recently knocked out Jack Bennett in less than one round before the devansah A.
